Disclaimer

Although this information was gathered with utmost care, the Embassy of the Federal Republic of Germany cannot assume any responsibility for the accuracy and timeliness of the information provided.

For an interpreter/translator to be allowed to translate/interpret in Romania for the following authorities, he/she must be approved by the Ministry of Justice:

- Ministry of Justice
- Superior Council of Magistrates
- Prosecution Service at the Supreme Court
- National Anti-Corruption Agency
- Law enforcement agencies, courts, notaries, lawyers and court executors

Admission shall be granted under Law No 178/04.11.1997, with subsequent amendments and additions.

In order to be approved by the Ministry of Justice, the interpreter/translator must acquire a certificate as a translator for legal studies - from Romanian into one or more foreign language(s) and vice versa - from the Romanian Ministry of Culture (under Article 3(c) of the abovementioned Act). This certificate is obtained following an examination organized regularly by the Ministry of Culture.

A list of all translators approved by the Romanian Ministry of Justice can be found on the Internet at the following link:

Notaries usually cooperate directly with private translators, so that you can also enquire about translators there.

Notaries in Romania are responsible for the certification of translations.

The Embassy cannot provide translation or interpreting services as it does not employ sworn translators. Nor is it allowed to recommend private translation agencies or certify translations.
